MESSAGE FROM THE TOWN MANAGER

Summer approaches and with it comes one of the busiest months of the year. The new Town Commission has hit the ground running, providing a series of recommendations during the Fiscal Year 2023 Budget Visioning Workshop, the first of five-public budget workshops, and prioritizing a number of hot items including pedestrian safety and additional measures to calm traffic in our residential area. The next steps for undergrounding utilities are another top priority.

A robust special events calendar is in store for this month beginning with the return of the Paddletopia kayaking and paddle boarding festival on May 21 and 22 at 96th Street Park. This unique event makes it easy for anyone (free kayak and paddleboard rentals will be provided) to get out on the water to enjoy our natural outdoor playground. The Tourist Board will also be hosting a Classic Car show at the Town Hall parking lot on May 29. Parks & Recreation will organize our tribute to America’s fallen heroes at the Annual Memorial Day Ceremony slated for 10 a.m. on Monday, May 30 at Veterans Park – be sure to mark your calendars.

For many, May is best known as the start of Sea Turtle Nesting Season which runs through October. Celebrating these fascinating animals along with our unique history is precisely the goal behind a one-of-a-kind new sea turtle sculpture that will be unveiled later this month at the 95th Street beach entrance. Ke, Surfside’s Mother Turtle, is a tribute to our Tequesta first inhabitants and a symbol for our dedication to the environment.

The curated public art project was funded and approved by members of the March 2020-2022 Tourist Board in partnership with the Archeological & Historical Conservancy and the Miami International University of Art + Design. Make sure you read on to learn more about the never-before-shared-story behind the Tequesta site discovered here in the 1920s!

Andrew Hyatt, Town Manager

MAYOR SHLOMO DANZINGER

A proud husband and father of five, Shlomo Danzinger was in pursuit of an enhanced quality of life when he settled in Surfside with his family back in 2012. The Town's tranquil pace and tight-knit community feel proved ideal for the Danzingers, with their children bicycling over to Ruth K. Broad Elementary School in the neighboring town of Bay Harbor Islands.

That appreciation for community led Mayor Danzinger to serve on the Parks & Recreation Committee for nearly a decade, advocating for new programs all Surfside families and restaurants could enjoy. Additional experience with the Town includes serving on the special joint committee addressing a proposal for a new Community Center as well as its Concession Committee which was instrumental in establishing the Surf n' Sides eatery currently operating poolside.

As the eldest of 12 children, Mayor Danzinger's leadership skills developed early, bolstering him through his 25+ year career supporting tech industry giants and startups, successfully managing teams of over 100 employees. His strategic approach to problem-solving was a key skill in the successful implementation of new technologies and applications across 33 state correctional institutions and multiple law enforcement agencies.

As a husband and father, he is unwavering in his commitment to a better Surfside for all residents. One where families flourish and each member of the community feels respected and welcome.

VICE MAYOR JEFFREY ROSE

Born and raised in South Florida, Vice Mayor Jeffrey Rose attended college at the University of Florida where he majored in political science. There, he met his wife and better half Leah before beginning his career in commercial real estate with Marcus and Millichap.

His next move in real estate came working alongside his father at his brokerage firm Rose and Rose Realty. While working with residential clients, he saw the need for honest and dependable general contractors, which motivated him to transition his career and start his own construction company, successfully becoming a general contractor.

"Jeff," as most friends and residents have come to know him, moved to Surfside with his wife in 2014. Since then, the two have expanded the family with the addition of their two young sons. He quickly became involved in the community, making new connections with residents and town employees. As a resident with young children, the vice mayor and his family regularly take advantage of the Town's programming, enjoying the special events, parks, and unique offerings within Town. His connection to Surfside would grow even stronger after the Champlain Towers South tragedy, where his parents owned an apartment at the time of the collapse.

Humbled and honored to be elected as Surfside's Vice Mayor, he looks forward to his tenure on the Commission, serving the residents of Surfside and working hard to preserve and improve the distinct way of life the way of life within our amazing beach town.

COMMISSIONER MARIANNE MEISCHEID

Commissioner Marianne Meisheid grew up the eldest of a large family in Easton, Pa. After putting herself through college, she moved to Manhattan to fulfill a childhood dream.

For 20 years, she has been your neighbor and as a long-term resident, she found a passion for the Town, turning it into action in 2014 starting with a position on the Sand Committee that was dedicated to protecting our beach. She was directly responsible for working with Tallahassee on legislation outlining the approved particle size and color of sand placed on our beach and also introduced a pilot project to prevent future beach erosion.

From 2016 to 2018, she served on the Tourist Board, where she helped initiate new beach events during the summer months when hotels were at their low season. The Town is the beneficiary of millions of dollars in tourist tax revenue each year. The Tourist Board directs some of this money to worthwhile endeavors. Spending this money wisely and carefully was her priority.

From 2018 until her election as Commissioner, she served as Chair of the Downtown Vision Advisory Committee to help uphold a standard for our town and increase foot traffic to local businesses. As Chairman, she spearheaded a bold program to make the sidewalks in Downtown more walkable to support this cause. She currently is the Store Manager for Pampaloni Silver located at 9513 Harding Avenue.

As a businesswoman, her career experience has been in sales and marketing for laboratory diagnostic equipment in New York and Florida. She has a Bachelor of Science Degree in Medical Technology from Cedar Crest College in Allentown, Pa., with a Certificate of Business Management from New York University, and a Florida Real Estate License.

As a well-rounded and dedicated resident, she has made "health, safety and welfare" issues her core values. Her objective is to ensure that the livability we have come to enjoy continues into the future.

COMMISSIONER FRED LANDSMAN

For 12 years, Fred Landsman has called the Town of Surfside home. Originally from the Midwest, this Chicago-born, long-term resident settled in Surfside with his wife and family for its small community feel and enviable quality of life. Landman's two teenage daughters, studying design at DASH and science at MAST @FIU respectively, clearly share the same professional drive which during his educational years, resulted in successfully obtaining a B.A. degree from the University of Illinois Champaign and an MBA from Loyola Marymount University in Los Angeles.

Landsman's career, spanning more than 20 years of experience on both coasts, originated in technology sales. He currently works as a recruiting leader for the tech industry, overseeing talent acquisition and general human resource management for a variety of organizations, most recently as lead recruiter for a multi-million-dollar software company employing more than 2,000 people. Previous entrepreneurial endeavors include owning and operating a restaurant in Atlanta, Georgia, for four years.

During his years of residence, Landsman has been an active community volunteer, embracing the opportunity to serve – most recently as the vice chair of the Town's Planning and Zoning Board, and previously on the Downtown Vision Advisory Committee (DVAC). Experience he hopes will better inform his viewpoints as a member of the Town Commission. His decision to venture into public office stems from the desire to use his position to influence positive, directional policy decisions that will help Surfside grow, ushering in a new era of livability and wellness for all residents.

COMMISSIONER NELLY VELASQUEZ

Like many New Yorkers, Commissioner Nelly Velasquez fell in love with Surfside's privileged weather, natural beauty and serene quality of life. She has been a Town resident for 10 years, living in the residential district with her husband and two children.

As the only returning member of the former Commission, she has been instrumental in spearheading efforts to initiate the process of undergrounding all Town utilities, a measure that was supported by a majority of voters in the recent election. Improved neighborhood aesthetics and greater resiliency during wind events are the impetus behind her commitment to this passion project.

Resiliency is also a key component of another cause near and dear to the Commissioner's heart, tackling the Town's flooding issues—particularly in the single-family-home district along Abbot Avenue. She has been a fierce proponent of Abbot Avenue drainage improvements in the hopes of solving a stubborn and complex problem many residents have sought answers on.

In her downtime, Commissioner Velasquez enjoys spending time with her family, taking advantage of the programming at the Community Center as well as many of the Town's signature annual events. A proud American with a devout sense of community pride, she marks Fourth of July as one of her favorite holidays to celebrate.

Fireworks, friends and family - all key components of that staple event - and all part of what drives her fervent desire to serve the Town and its residents.

CODE CORNER

SEA TURTLE NESTING SEASON

Sea turtle nesting season starts on May 1 and ends on October 31. Nesting females and hatchlings need dark beaches. Surfside residents and visitors are asked to shut off bright lights, close your blinds and shades, and switch white bulbs to amber or red LED bulbs during the entire nesting season.

- Stay away from crawling or nesting sea turtles. Nesting is a critical stage in the sea turtle's life cycle. Please leave them undisturbed.
- DO REPORT all stranded (dead or injured) turtles to the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission.
- NEVER handle hatchling sea turtles. If you observe hatchlings wandering away from the ocean or on the beach call: 1-888-404-FWCC or *FWC (Mobile Phone).

READY FOR HURRICANE SEASON

The Public Works Water and Sewer team has completed yearly storm water inspections and is hurricane ready.

Over the month of April, valued members of the Public Works Department have participated in sewer and storm water drainage cleaning. This includes the pump stations located around the residential areas. Our efforts ensure that all storm water systems are optimal and pump stations are clear of any debris.

HURRICANE VEGETATION PREPAREDNESS & COLLECTION

Hurricane Season is quickly approaching. Starting May 1st, the Public Works Department is placing a special emphasis on vegetation bulk collection. The primary focus will be on storm hazard mitigation. The Town is strongly encouraging residents to prepare for Hurricane Season by trimming excess and damaged vegetation.

Please inspect all trees located on private property for any twisted, dead or broken limbs and remove them. Place the detached vegetation in a pile on the street in front of your property for collection. Solid Waste will be conducting additional bulk pickups for vegetation only. There will be no change to the established bulk collection program.

If you have any questions regarding this policy, please contact Public Works at (305) 861-4863 or visit our website at townofsurfsidefl.gov

Surfside's Tequesta History

Surfside's first inhabitants were members of the Tequesta Indian tribe. Their principal site, discovered on the Miami Beach barrier island in our area during the 1920s, included a village (known by archaeologists as a midden) and a burial mound located on the shore of Indian Creek between present day 91st to 95th street.

Masters of their environment, the Tequesta fished, hunted and gathered native plants for food and shelter. Recovered marine animal bones from the Surfside site include fish, dolphins and other porpoises, sharks and even whales. Alligators and sea turtles were also abundant, as well as mammals, including Key deer. The age of some of the excavated artifacts indicates that the Tequesta lived in Surfside for as long as 2,000 years.

In 1923, the site was damaged by a new development laying out streets and residential lots (Altos del Mar). It was first excavated by State Archeologist Vernon Lamme in 1931 while subsequent excavations were led by the Smithsonian Institution. Recovered artifacts include pot sherds, shell tools, bone points, stone tools and ornaments.

Numerous skeletons were found in the burial mound that included a mass grave of 19 skulls, but unfortunately, all of the human remains were stolen before they reached the museum. Their present whereabouts are still a mystery.

The Tequesta were destroyed as a culture after European contact in the 16th century. By 1763, the remaining population, victims of European introduced diseases and slave raids, fled to Cuba. Their vacated lands were then settled by the newly arrived Seminoles and Miccosukee.

To commemorate these remarkable historical findings, the Town will soon be unveiling Ké, a curated new turtle sculpture, on the beach entrance at 95th Street. Stay tuned to our communications channels for details!

A PARTNERSHIP TO PROTECT THE JEWISH COMMUNITY

The Greater Miami Jewish Federation (GMJF) and the Secure Community Network (SCN) presented a national initiative with the Ministry of Diaspora Affairs of the State of Israel, exclusively for Security Directors and their law enforcement partners who contribute to the safety and security of protecting Jewish communities. Surfside Police Chief Rogelio J. Torres Jr. was selected to accompany the South Florida delegation and participate in this prestigious security and law enforcement seminar in Israel from April 1 to April 7, 2022.

The program will highlight Israeli, U.S. and other relevant best-practices, providing participants with the opportunity to collaboratively address the challenges of global terrorism and anti-Semitism, and engage in discussions and training on the security threats faced by Jewish communities. The interactive seminars will bring together internationally-recognized subject-matter experts and will include lectures, workshops, facilitated discussion, and operational exercises. Participants will analyze the current threat environment as well as share strategies and ideas on how to effectively address security concerns.

Which turtles call Surfside home?

Five different types of sea turtles can be found up and down Florida's coasts, and three of those species pay a visit to Surfside's beaches each year. Florida conducts an annual survey of sea turtle nesting activity across the state, identifying areas for additional protection for our beloved sea turtles. Learn more about our most common neighbors here.
